

Jumanah's

Software Engineering Student

About Me

Jumanah Awadh-Allah Al-Asami

I am a final-year Software Engineering student at the University of Jeddah, born in July, 2004. My primary professional objective is to leverage this creative passion to build innovative, user-centric applications that solve real-world problems.

Education

Bachelor of Software Engineering

University of Jeddah

2022 - 2027

Projects

Reads

A lightweight Flutter based application designed to help users log and manage their reading progress in a simple and visually friendly way.

Projects

Reads

A lightweight Flutter based application designed to help users log and manage their reading progress in a simple and visually friendly way.

Bookery

A robust Flutter based application esigned to serves as an all-in-one platform for book enthusiasts to manage personal collections and engage in a marketplace.

Darb

A mobile UI/UX prototype designed to enhance the tourist

Color Rush

A Java based GUI game created as a project for the Object-Oriented Programming course. The game features an interactive color matching challenge with support for both English and Arabic interfaces.

Contact Me

